

Christian Coaches Creed

A Christian coach should exemplify Christ in their life and have a personal relationship with Him on a daily basis. He/she should live a life that is led and empowered by the Holy Spirit; therefore, they must be consciously thinking God's thoughts and consciously performing His way.

Their attitude must reflect those of Jesus Christ and realize that they are an extension of their church's outreach ministry and that everyone around them, both members and non-members alike, is constantly critiquing their actions.

A coach's primary goal must be to develop young people through athletics to become Christ-like, therefore, they must build self-esteem, motivate, correct, and love each team member with the love of Christ.